To the Board of Game:

I am writing this letter to add my name to the thousands of others who are against Prop. 105, the snaring of bears and for Prop. 86, protecting Denali's wolves. Not that I am under any illusion that it will impact you to any degree. You have been doing what you want for years despite public opinion.

Some of us are aware of your unscrupulous tactics, you know. Such as calling an "emergency meeting", which doesn't require the mandatory 30-day notice to the public, tabling the original intent, then going on to pass several proposals without that pesky public input. Or arranging important meetings in such faraway places the pesky public can't afford to go and interfere with your agenda. Or for taking your black-hearted lawyer's advice to remove the word "humane" from the snaring proposals so the pesky public would have no leverage to sue you later. Oh, and the big one, when your brutal methods went up for a vote, you twisted the ballot wording in such a way people thought they were voting it out when they were actually voting it in.

Keep in mind, none of you are going to live forever and I believe we will all be judged. Imagine having every minute an animal suffers being counted against you. You may be too arrogant to worry about the wrath of God but I'm glad I'm not you.
