Dear Commissioner and Alaska Dept of Fish & Game,
Board Members,

I am strongly against aerial or any other kind of state killing of wolves on the Kenai Peninsula or anywhere else in the state. Humans with their cars + vehicles ^{spotted} kill more moose than any animal. The wolves cull out the weak animals and diet mostly on smaller animals. They are the four runners of our dogs who show us great loyalty. The wolves live in family groups and killing members of a pack is inhumane. Denali, our great National Park had a band of wolves which had been studied overtime + their members were killed simply because they were out of the park. I'd made all creatures and before we take their lives in such an unfair manner, we should think about this. The same goes for the Mulchatna Caribou herd. Thank you.

Respectfully Yours
Priscilla W Russell
